

A contemporary interpretation: food for Alessandro Tamponi

National Archeological Museum "G. Asproni" – Nuoro

From August 5th to September 24th, 2017

A modern reflection of food and rituals that sets them apart. A comparison of contemporary dietary approaches to those that are more traditional and ancient. From August 5th, 2017, in the halls of the National Archeological Museum "G. Asproni" in Nuoro, the Sardinian Museums Organization hosts the contemporary painting staff with the title of "A contemporary interpretation: food for Alessandro Tamponi".

The themed exhibition about painters goes over some traditional Sardinian cuisine motifs and expresses them through modern technique, with acrylic, through color combinations that allow the viewer to experience a certain underlying sarcasm when comparing to daily life.
