Simple clay becomes an original work and turns into decorated bowls and glazed mugs. Fire is the element that breaks down the fragile clay in the furnace: then the material comes to life. To get to know the origins, techniques and secrets of the production of the precious objects on display, on Thursday, November 9th, 2017, the Sardinian Museums Organization is putting on a lecture by Fabio Pinna from the University of Cagliari, titled “Create the luster, restore the luster. The ceramics from the Fondo Pula (Pula Fund)” at the halls of Spazio San Pancrazio, in the Citadel of Museums in Cagliari.
